Atty. S. Hollister Jackson has returned from Washington, D. C., where he attended a fuel hearing.

Go to the Japanese Garden Party Saturday at the Barre Candy Kitchen and help the war chest fund.

Miss Ora Little of Granville was brought to the City hospital yesterday and underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Great opportunity to buy a good hat cheap. All colored hats at cost. These goods will cost you more next year. Mrs. E. A. Williams.

Charles F. Black of St. Albans, an attorney for the Central Vermont railroad, was a business visitor in Barre yesterday and to-day.

Corp. Harry Martin of Camp Wadsworth, Spartanburg, S. C., passed through the city yesterday while on his way to Williamstown, where he is passing a furlough with relatives.

Attend ye worthy alumni of Spaulding. The annual banquet will be as usual. Date is Thursday, June 20. Time, 8:30 p. m. Collection will be $1 per person, payable before the Hooverized feast.—adv.

Prof. Frederick Tupper of the state university has been engaged to deliver the commencement address before the graduating class of Spaulding high school next week. The exercises, to be held in the opera house on the evening of Friday, June 21, are to be preceded by the customary commencement week activities.

Fred Haslam, a well known monument designer, is staying at Hotel Barre while arranging to open a designing office in this city. Until recently he was located in Paola, Kan., where he conducted one of the largest monument designing establishments in the West. He plans to move his effects to Barre within a few weeks.

The game between the Goddard seminary and the Fairbanks State company's baseball teams, which was arranged to be played yesterday afternoon at the seminary campus, was called off shortly after noon yesterday by the St. Johnsbury team, owing to the inclemency of the weather. It is unlikely that the game will be played off, owing to the graduation exercises of the seminary, which occur next week.

The Park lunch cart, after witnessing generations of epicureans pass through Depot square on their way to the train and oblivion, slid onto the skids this morning and began its journey to North Barre. The Park, for many years a favorite resort for travelers who enjoyed a lunch of the hasty sort, has been purchased by A. G. Nye of the Jones & Nye livery, who will anchor it at 500 North Main street. Of late years this seat of the hot tamale industry in Barre has fallen into disrepair, and its removal will improve the appearance of the square.

Private Lemuel Halligan of the 5th Pioneers at Camp Wadsworth, Spartanburg, S. C., who is passing a 15 days' furlough at his home in Granville, called on friends in the city yesterday while visiting his sister, Miss Helen Halligan. There are upward of 500 Vermonters at Spartanburg, but the 57th is being rapidly recruited to war strength with men from many states, and the veterans of the regiment, anticipating a journey overseas in the near future, are in a state of expectancy. Private Halligan states that all of the Barre boys are in excellent health, although chafing somewhat at their delay in getting overseas to France.

More than ever deep significance attached to the observance of flag day to-day, and while it was not observed as a holiday a good many people found time enough to display the colors. Over a number of business establishments the flag waved in the first sunlight that has flooded the June landscape in several days. Perhaps the best part of the flag day was the renewal of old flags long since worn to tatters by the action of the wind and rain. Bright, new banners have supplanted them, and people who may have seemed a bit neglectful in their duty toward the flag surely chose an appropriate day on which to replace worn-out flags with new ones. In the noon hour a number of Barre people went to Granville, where there were flag raising exercises at the J. K. Effe quarries. A number of Barre and Town young men who are home on furloughs were the guests of Mr. Effe and there was a rousing patriotic celebration after the flag had been dedicated.

MONTPELIER

Miss Isabelle Lemay is taking a two weeks' vacation from her work as chief operator in the telephone office.

While the Montpelier quota in the recent Red Cross drive was $5,000, the rest of the county went so far over 100 per cent that the war chest fund distributing committee have voted an additional sum to be paid to the fund. The average of the county was 170 to each town and $3,500 addition has been appropriated from the fund here, making the Montpelier gift at $8,500.

Charles Black, attorney for the Central Vermont railway, was in the city Thursday afternoon in a conference with another attorney over legal matters. Mr. Black was at Burlington the morning of the tunnel accident, so he had first-hand information relative to the accident and obtained statements of the witnesses without delay, so that at the joint hearing of the public service commission and interstate commerce commission, held last Monday, this evidence was presented. The placing of the responsibility as far as commission is concerned is not yet made, stated Mr. Black.

Sheriff F. H. Tracy has completed a card by which the prisoners in the Washington county jail are given an opportunity to show their patriotism. Each card is covered with figures, placed in a block to represent each month in the year. In the center is the following pledge signed by the prisoners: "I voluntarily agree to give ten per cent of my wages to the war fund to be used for the best interests of the soldiers," after which follows a place for the signature and dating of the pledge. Sheriff Tracy holds that the prisoners are as patriotic as those outside the jail and his judgment in the matter is right, for every man in the jail signed one of the cards.

The hearings in one of the rear wheels of Mayor F. W. Mitchell's automobile gave out at the foot of the southerly side of Northfield street hill Thursday afternoon and the car had to be drawn to a garage. In fact, two automobiles had to be used to do the trick.

A boy of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Barber, who live at the Pioneer, received a bruised knee in some way Thursday afternoon near the corner of Eastern avenue and State street. It looks as though the child, when running down the street, collided with a car which was passing at the time. Some of the children said the automobile went over the child's leg, but examination at his home did not show any such accident. Edward Pell of Craftsbury was driving the automobile. Neither he nor those in the car with him saw anything of the kind, although some of them admitted they were looking at the State House about that time. The matter was reported to the police, who went to the Central Vermont station and saw the automobile and driver, satisfying themselves that the driver of the car was not to blame.

Miss Helen Burbank is detained from her work in the commissioner of industries office by the illness of her mother. Mrs. E. G. Colburn, who suffered an operation for removal of gall stones this week, is gaining, although very slowly. She has not been in good health for some time.

Donald McGarey, who has been assisting in the organization of the food administrator's office, has gone to his home in St. Albans to resume his newspaper work on The Messenger. Col. C. S. Forbes of St. Albans has commenced work with the commission.

M. G. Morse of Hardwick was in the city this morning, looking after some work in connection with closing his business affairs, before leaving to-morrow for Princeton, N. J., where he commences training for Y. M. C. A. work abroad.

Sanford Daniels of Brattleboro was in the city yesterday afternoon. Notice was sent to-day to the local board of exemption relative to a new order concerning the registration of those men who have married in the last year. For the most part these men are to be placed in class two instead of class four. The order which is rather lengthy, provides certain exceptions which govern those who have married since last June and those to whom children have been born since Jan. 15 this year, or to whom children are to be borne. Under certain conditions some of these will go into class three instead of class four.

Before the closing of the commencement exercises at Montpelier seminary Thursday, Dr. J. W. Hatch announced to the athletes of the school the honors they have won on their fields of battle, that is, he stated, who are entitled to the letter of that work. In baseball the following were awarded letters: Arkeley, Duba, Dodds, Hatch, Lanes, Irons, Marr, Horicon, Church, Ward and Berry, while in basketball he awarded letters to Hatch, Grani, Marr, Johnson and Ward. In football he awarded letters to Jeffrey, Duba, Irons, Keirn, Grani, Ward, Hatch, Tillotson, Parker, Arkeley and Johnson.

The case of Earl Baldwin of Woodbury vs. M. G. Morse was tried in Montpelier city court this morning. This is a claim made by the plaintiff for $127 for labor done by the plaintiff. The defense presented evidence to show that the work was done for the Vt. Quarries Co. instead of for M. G. Morse, claiming the defendant is not the true defendant, and asking judgment be returned in favor of Mr. Morse.

In the court of chancery for Washington county the case of Henry Russ vs. Michael and Mary Good has been entered. An injunction has been signed by Judge E. L. Waterman, in which the defendants are restrained from disposing of property. This action is the outing in the organization of the food administrator's office, has gone to his home in St. Albans to resume his newspaper work on The Messenger. Col. C. S. Forbes of St. Albans has commenced work with the commission.

In the court of chancery for Washington county the case of Henry Russ vs. Michael and Mary Good has been entered. An injunction has been signed by Judge E. L. Waterman, in which the defendants are restrained from disposing of property. This action is the outgrowth of a civil suit in county court in which the plaintiff in this case obtained a judgment against Mr. Good, who was in close jail execution for a time and who last April was released on poor debtor's oath.

The Washington county local board of exemption has received from the adjutant general an order releasing all the young men who recently signed from special service, excepting the five who were called Thursday. This means that the war department obtained the men they wanted in the call for aeronautics to go to Vancouver Barracks, Wash., which was carpenters and laborers. Twenty-eight young men signed in this county, of whom five were called.
